"My friends are trying to rip but it's just not happening. They're ripping with Vinyl Grip 5 and with MediaInfo but it's not the same. I've tried it a few times and I'm just not getting it. I'm thinking maybe it's not my hardware. I'm using a Nuendo 7.0. I have a W7 64-bit system with a 2.90 GZ. I don't know if that matters but I've read that it can slow down the process. Any thoughts?" "Hi there. I recently installed Winamp on a friend's computer and he can not seem to rip any audio files. I looked into it and the ones that Winamp can rip are when the file is imported and it is of the wrong type. I did find another application that he can not download (Lyrebird) and it can rip but again I don't have any files for him to "rip" except the ones I've imported." "I am trying to rip songs from my CD's using audacity and KX-DA3 with Xing MP3 and can't seem to get anywhere. I've listened to my CD's and know the songs but audacity gives me all kinds of errors. (I've tried two media files)" "I recently bought the KX-DA3 but it can't read my song files.. i dont know the format they are in so it can't play or rip them in a easy way.. also i dnt know my songs or artists names or anything so how am i going to know the name of the song i've bought... plzz help" "I have a stack of CD's that I bought long ago. They are way before I started playing around with kx-da3. I have not used winamp at all. I try to rip using audacity with xing mp3 and KX-DA3. What am I doing wrong? I can rip with Winamp but that doesnt help me at all... I want to be able to play the ripped songs I get with other music players such as winamp or foobar2000." "How do I rip from CD to MP3 in Audacity? Do I rip the song and then burn the song to CD? I have a new computer and want to transfer my music to it." "I have a bunch of CD's that I bought in the early 1990s. I played them in my home computer and recorded 09e8f5149f"
